Dear Silk Screen Shirts,

On behalf of Vox Footwear Inc., I would like to thank you for taking good care of our clothing orders for the past few seasons.

We are a new skateboarding shoe brand that launched about two years ago. On top of the shoes, we also carry accessories, including some T-shirts and hoodies. At the beginning, we worked with a clothing supplier who claimed to be one of the biggest in the industry with an impeccable track record. However, maybe because we were too small of a fish in too big of a pond, our productions were full of problem--wrong quantities and materials, poor printing quality and customer service, etc. At the end of our second season, we realized that we needed to switch vendors because we were bombarded with complaints from our customers.

Ever since we switched to Silk Screen Shirts, our clothing productions have been going smoothly. Not only have we been provided with quality products, we have an excellent sales rep, Will Regan, who has been constantly updating us on new materials/printing techniques, working with our art department for new designs, and making sure that we receive our orders on time. We have not experienced any clothing returns from our customers since the switch.

Shoe manufacturing and distribution is a very complicated business. We really appreciate your willingness and patience to grow with us. Now that we do not have to worry about our clothing productions, we can concentrate more on perfecting our shoes.

Thank you Silk Screen Shirts!

Best Regards,

Pei-ting Lin
